BREWHOUSE KITCHEN

SUBERG'S BEI BOENTE - BREWHOUSE CULTURE WITH HISTORY

With regional cuisine, freshly tapped beers, and a deep passion for hospitality, we have long been a fixture of Recklinghausen's Old Town. Within the historic walls of Augustinussenstraße, we look back on a long history: from 1871 to 1985, schnapps was distilled here for the local mining industry. Since 1988, we have been part of Recklinghausen's restaurant scene as a working brewhouse and a place where brewhouse culture is truly lived. Throughout the decades, we have preserved our character, our story, and the unmistakable Old Town atmosphere that still defines Boente today.

The striking brewing kettles in our dining room are a reminder of our house's tradition and lend the room a special character. In our heritage-listed spaces, freshly tapped beers meet culinary specialties from our brewhouse kitchen – from hearty and traditional to lighter, vegetarian, and vegan dishes.

In summer, our large, leafy beer garden in the heart of the city centre invites you to linger and enjoy relaxed hours in good company. Whether for lunch, a freshly tapped beer, an evening with friends, or a little break from everyday life – with us, enjoyment, warmth, and conviviality always come first.

Our cosy rooms also provide the perfect setting for private celebrations and business occasions. Whether in the Kontor or the Stübchen: our spaces offer the right backdrop for celebrations, meetings, and sociable hours.

Every visit with us becomes an experience to remember – warm, sociable, and always a piece of Recklinghausen.
